FRIDAY. : : : SEPT. 11, 1874 THE SOUTH AND HER TREAT MENT.

In December, 1865, a report was read in Congress on the condition of the Southern States, the disposition evinced by the citizens recently in rebellion and the most advisable manner of treating them. The document in question was generous in spirit and statesmanlike in its propositions. Its author said :- "I am satisfied that the mass of thinking men of the South accept the present situation of affairs in good faith. The questions that have hitherto divided the sentiments of the people of the two or the right of a State to secede | South from the Union-they regard as having been settled forever by the highest tribunal-arms-that man can appeal to.
